DEALER, OWNER AND DRIVER OF AUTO CHARGED

The driver of an automobile which skidded off the Emmitsburg road six miles south of Gettysburg at 12:45 p.m. Sunday and overturned in a small creek, after striking a pole, will face four charges filed today by state police of the Gettysburg substation, while the owner of the car has been charged with another motor code violation, and the man who sold it to him with failure to convey title in the automobile.

Raymond S. Williams, 38, colored, who lives on an alley back of High street, was the driver of the car which ran off the highway and upset. The car, state police said, was owned by Leroy Dorsey Berry, of the same address. Williams is accused of taking registration plates from his own car and placing them on the Berry automobile. He is charged with misuse of registration plates, operating an automobile not properly registered for the current period, driving a car without a current inspection sticker, and reckless driving.

Two Others Charged

State police filed a charge against Berry of permitting Williams to operate an unregistered automobile. Ten-day notices will be sent to both defendants by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

Ellis L. Smith, who operates a garage on South Washington street and a used car lot on Buford avenue, was charged with failing to give Berry title to the automobile Williams was driving. He paid a fine of $25 and costs to Squire Snyder late Monday afternoon.

ROTARY HEARS TALK ON AIMS AND STANDARDS

"So long as there are firms who will take unfair trade advantages, so long as there are arguments between labor and capital, then there will be a definite field of opportunity in vocational service for every Rotary club," William B. Shissler, New Cumberland attorney and district governor of Rotary told the Gettysburg Rotary club at its meeting Monday evening at the YWCA.

Speaking on the theme, "Rotary Horizons," Shissler noted that "Rotary today is a world fellowship of business and professional men who accept the ideal of service as the basis for success and happiness in business and community life."

"Rotary has universal appeal because it offers a practical means of enlarging one's friendship, participating in community betterment undertakings, promoting high standards in business and professional understanding, good will and peace. Rotary is a dynamic organization. It is an integrating force in a world where forces of disintegration are all too prevalent."

Praises Local Suggestion

Admitting that "the buyer-seller and employer-employee committees of Rotary probably have the toughest assignments of any of the committees of the club to find practical means of carrying out their programs," Governor Shissler added, "yet their work is of the highest importance to Rotary. They are charged with the duty of raising the ethics and standards of action of all in the community."

At a meeting of the committee chairmen of the club held with the district governor following the regular club meeting, he praised a proposal of the buyer-seller committee of the local club to provide for proper recognition of those who actually put the highest ideals of service into practice in their business dealings.

Cites Responsibilities

In his talk to the Rotarians at the regular meeting Shissler said: "Community service ideals of Rotary call for genuine personalized interest on the part of the Rotarian in the (Continued on Page 3)

Capture Prize Wonsan Port After Sharp Street Fight

By RELMAN MORIN
Tokyo, Oct. 10 (AP)—South Koreans captured the prized east coast port and arsenal industrial city of Wonsan today after sharp day-and-night street fighting.

Only a mop-up job of wiping out Red snipers remained before Allies can start putting the harbor and airport into shape for operations. Port facilities were reported 50 per cent intact.

To the southwest, Communist troops holed up in their pre-war "defense" chain of log pillboxes and virtually stalled the American First cavalry troopers' thrust across parallel 38 near Kaesong on the road to the Red capital, Pyongyang. Swept 100 Miles

Seizure of Wonsan climaxed a lightning sweep of more than 100 road miles into Red Korea since the Rok Third Division crossed the border October 1. Rok Capital Division elements aided in the final siege.

The Reds put up their first strong show of resistance just south of the city Monday.

Allied warplanes blasted the Red strongpoints and the Reds stormed through to the important airfield just south of Wonsan before dawn Tuesday.

Then the road-hardened South Koreans swept on into the city where the Reds fought street by street amid burning buildings.

Fighting Continues

Scattered fighting continued throughout Tuesday in the port city but the bulk of the Red defenders fled north and west.

Wonsan is about 105 miles north of 38 and 95 airline miles almost due east of Pyongyang.

AP Correspondent Hal Boyle reported South Korean sources said their Third and Capital Division troops have fought clear through to Wonsan's northern limits after capturing the valuable nearby airfield.

Correspondent William Jordan reported from Wonsan—that the Reds fled before the South Koreans but turned back and put up a fight in the northern half.

BIGHAM TAKES APPEALS FROM ASSESSMENTS

Attorney Franklin R. Bigham will appear before the Adams county commissioners—who will be sitting as the county board for assessment and revision of taxes—to ask them for "equitable" assessment on 17 of the 19 properties he has purchased within the last year for an unnamed client. Two assessments are not being appealed.

Mr. Bigham said today that in some instances new assessments are five or six times previous figures and he cited one case in which three acres of land now assessed at $270 per acre were listed at $5 per acre.

Farms Cost $414,125

PRICE THREE CENTS

Let Contracts For $177,118 High School Addition; Accept Offer On $210,000 Bond Issue

In a session that lasted until 12:30 o'clock this morning at the high school building, the Gettysburg School Authority awarded contracts totaling $177,118 for the erection of a two-story addition to the Gettysburg high school building.

At the same session Monday night the Authority accepted the offer of Blair Rollins and Company, Inc., and M. M. Freeman Company, Inc., both of Philadelphia, for a $210,000 bond issue which will finance the new structure.

Work will begin as soon as the general contractor, O. H. Hostetter, Hanover, can start work and every effort will be made to have the new structure ready for use next fall.

Board Meets Next Monday

The Authority's meeting was held in connection with the October session of the Gettysburg Joint School board when the way was cleared for another board meeting next Monday. Formal agreements committing Gettysburg and the four member township school districts to meeting their share of the rentals to be charged by the authority for use of the new building are to be adopted then.

The joint board—with all member boards represented—adjourned at 11 p.m. until next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. A poll of directors showed all in favor of using the state tax equalization board figures on real estate values as the basis for district contributions to the annual rental cost until the bond issue is paid off in 30 years.

Bidders for the general contract and their offers follow: O. H. Hostetter, Hanover, $130,966; A. L. Peeser, Taneytown, $132,735; W. R. Oyer, Waynesboro, $138,471, and J. H. Crouse and Sons, Littlestown, $159,804.

List Of Bidders

The bids for the other contracts follow with the successful bidder listed first in each instance:

Heating: Diller Wierman, Hanover, $22,900; Keystone Grate and Blower Works, Chambersburg, $37,458; L. W. Poff, Mt. Wolf, $25,230, and C. C. Kottcamp and Son, York, $26,317.

Plumbing: Keystone Grate and Blower Works, $7,257, and Diller Wierman, $8,290.

Electrical: Swam Electric company, Hanover, $15,995, and J. J. Allman Electric company, Greencastle, $28,445.

Callible, Serial Bonds

The offer for the bond issue that was accepted provides for serial issues of $1,000 bonds, all callible, and with 1980 as the final maturity date. Part of the issue will bear two and one-eighth per cent interest and the remainder will be 2 1/2 per cent bonds.

The total amount of the bond issue includes the total contract costs, plus a margin for contingencies, plus architect's fees and expenses of the authority incidental to its work of printing and selling the bonds.

Each year, the five school districts will have approximately $10,000 rent to pay to the authority which that body will use to maintain the building, pay bond interest and retire bonds as they come due.

Two Bodies Meet

Dr. R. D. Wickerham, president of the joint board, presided at the joint meeting and Arthur E. Hutchison, chairman of the Authority board, presided at the Authority session.

Routine school board reports were presented at the outset of the meeting. The Gettysburg National bank gave its monthly report as joint district treasurer showing expenses of $26,774.90 last month, leaving a balance of $12,299.19. The cafeteria report showed a balance of $808 after bills totaling $688 were paid. The activities fund report showed a balance of $8,774.06.

Dr. Keefeauver was directed to go to Indian Gap to buy government surplus property at five cents per pound "as he sees fit." Cumberland township reported a new furnace is being placed in Boyd's school.

STORK BUSY IN SEPTEMBER

KITCHENETTES SEEK PROJECT IN COMMUNITY

The Biglerville Kitchenettes today were seeking suggestions for a community project to be carried out through use of funds raised by the organization.

ROTARY HEARS TALK ON AIMS AND STANDARDS

"So long as there are firms who will take unfair trade advantages, so long as there are arguments between labor and capital, then there will be a definite field of opportunity in vocational service for every Rotary club," William B. Shissler, New Cumberland attorney and district governor of Rotary told the Gettysburg Rotary club at its meeting Monday evening at the YWCA.

Speaking on the theme, "Rotary Horizons," Shissler noted that "Rotary today is a world fellowship of business and professional men who accept the ideal of service as the basis for success and happiness in business and community life."

"Rotary has universal appeal because it offers a practical means of enlarging one's friendship, participating in community-betterment undertakings, promoting high standards in business and professional understanding, good will and peace. Rotary is a dynamic organization. It is an integrating force in a world where forces of disintegration are all too prevalent."

Praises Local Suggestion

Admitting that "the buyer-seller and employer-employee committees of Rotary probably have the toughest assignments of any of the committees of the club to find practical means of carrying out their programs," Governor Shissler added, "yet their work is of the highest importance to Rotary. They are charged with the duty of raising the ethics and standards of action of all in the community."

At a meeting of the committee chairman of the club held with the district governor following the regular club meeting, he praised a proposal of the buyer-seller committee of the local club to provide for proper recognition of those who actually put the highest ideals of service into practice in their business dealings.

Cites Responsibilities

In his talk to the Rotarians at the regular meeting Shissler said: "Community service ideals of Rotary call for genuine personalized interest on the part of the Rotarian in the (Continued on Page 3)

Capture Prize Wonsan Port After Sharp Street Fight

By RELMAN MORIN
Tokyo, Oct. 10 (AP)—South Koreans captured the prized east coast port and arsenal-industrial city of Wonsan today after sharp day-and-night street fighting.

Only a mop-up job of wiping out Red snipers remained before Allies can start putting the harbor and airport into shape for operations. Port facilities were reported 50 per cent intact.

To the southwest, Communist troops holed up in their pre-war "defense" chain of log pillboxes and virtually stalled the American First Cavalry troops' thrust across parallel 38 near Kaesong on the road to the Red capital, Pyongyang.

Swept 100 Miles

Seizure of Wonsan climaxed a lightning sweep of more than 100 road miles into Red Korea since the Rok Third Division crossed the border October 1. Rok Capital Division elements aided in the final siege.

The Reds put up their first strong show of resistance just south of the city Monday.

Allied warplanes blasted the Red strongpoints and the Reds stormed through to the important airfield just south of Wonsan before dawn Tuesday.

Then the road-hardened South Koreans swept on into the city where the Reds fought street by street amid burning buildings.

Fighting Continues

Scattered fighting continued throughout Tuesday in the port city but the bulk of the Red defenders fled north and west.

Wonsan is about 105 miles north of 38 and 95 airline miles almost due east of Pyongyang.

AP Correspondent Hal Boyle reported South Korean sources said their Third and Capital Division troops have fought clear through to Wonsan's northern limits after capturing the valuable nearby airfield.

Correspondent William Jordan reported from Wonsan that the Reds fled before the South Koreans but turned back and put up a fight in the northern half.

BIGHAM TAKES APPEALS FROM ASSESSMENTS

Attorney Franklin R. Bigham will appear before the Adams county commissioners—who will be sitting as the county board for assessment and revision of taxes—to ask them for "equitable" assessment on 17 of the 19 properties he has purchased within the last year for an unnamed client. Two assessments are not being appealed.

Mr. Bigham said today that in some instances new assessments are five or six times previous figures and he cited one case in which three acres of land now assessed at $270 per acre were "listed at $5 per acre."

WHAT'S MORE IMPORTANT THAN MONEY?

Before you make up your mind about arranging a cash loan, you'll want to know something about the philosophy of the people you plan to see. We at Capital Finance Corporation believe there is something more important in arranging loans than just the money itself—and that is the spirit with which the loan is made. All money is the same and you can probably get a loan anywhere. We emphasize the other things—our EXTRAS—little things that mean a lot but cost not one cent more—such as: Friendly Attention, Personal Consideration, Understanding, Respect For Your Confidence, Better Service and a Sincere Desire to Make the Loan. You'll like this kind of service.

disadvantage; using the actual assessed valuation figures or using market value figures now computed annually by the state tax equalization board for school purposes. The two latter plans were favored and the last was finally agreed upon unanimously on a poll of directors, as being the one that would most fairly determine district shares.

The member boards will go to next Monday's meeting prepared to take formal action on agreements unending their present jointure contracts to provide for the annual rentals for the new building.

Representatives of the C. C. Collins company of Philadelphia and the Freeman and Blair Rollins firms discussed bond offers with the authority and later submitted offers in writing.

As the various steps were taken Monday evening every effort was made to speed up procedures so that work can begin as soon as possible in the new building and that tight materials may be ordered at the best possible prices and at the earliest date so that the authority would stand the best possible chance of prompt completion of the construction work.

ANNOUNCING

ARMY RANKED AS TOP TEAM IN GRID POLL

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The mid-west's post-war strangeness was broken today and a wide open battle shaped up for national college football honors.

Four-time champion Notre Dame plummeted to tenth place in the weekly Associated Press poll while Army took over as the No. 1 team in the country.

The Midlands, which have furnished the mythical titleholder nine of the 15 times since 1936 and continuously since the last war, were not out of contention.

Their best showing in the top ten was No. 2, held down by the Purdue team that splintered Notre Dame's reign with a 28-14 victory last Saturday at South Bend.

The stoutest challenge to Army's position came from the southwest, which put three unbeaten titans—Southern Methodist, Oklahoma and Texas—on the Cadet's heels.

Here's the latest rundown of gridiron might, with every section represented:

Army, SMU, Oklahoma, Texas, Kentucky, Stanford, California, Maryland, Purdue and Notre Dame.

Army, recognized national champion in 1945, will risk its newly gained height in New York's Yankee stadium Saturday against Michigan, co-champion of the big ten and tops in the nation in 1949.

The standings are bound to get another good shaking as the result of the big doubleheader show in Dallas.

Oklahoma, No. 3, and Texas, No. 4, collide in a Saturday afternoon game in the Cotton bowl, while SMU, No. 2, enters unscathed but once-tied Oklahoma A & M there that night.

The best of the top ten plays lower level opponents, like this:

Kentucky vs. Cincinnati, Stanford vs. Santa Clara, California vs. Southern California, Maryland vs. Georgetown, Purdue vs. Miami (Fla.), Notre Dame vs. Tulane.

The injury-riddled Gettysburg college squad faces one of its most formidable rivals Saturday afternoon when it clashes with Lehigh at Bethlehem. Another casualty was added to the Bulletin list Sunday evening when Bobby Bitner, first string quarterback, slipped on a curb and suffered a severely sprained left ankle which now has him hobbling on crutches.

Rogers Herr's Gettysburg junior high eleven, defeated by Delone 18-6 in its opener, plays at Bolling Springs Wednesday evening, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Also scheduled for Wednesday is the Paradise Protector-Biglerville jayvee game at Biglerville at 7:30 p.m.

Eastern League

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—Attendance at games in the Eastern league this season was 29.9 per cent lower than in 1949, League President Thomas H. Richardson reported today.

During the regular 1950 season, the teams drew 712,378 with an additional 28,438 for the Governors' cup playoffs. This made a grand total of 740,816, compared to 1,016,789 for 1949.

The 1949 playoffs drew 49,201, or 30,793 more post-season fans than this year.

President Richardson blamed the decline on bad weather.

"In the 13 years that I have been president," he said, "we never experienced such miserable weather as this season. Despite the big loss in attendance," he added, "we are looking forward to a bigger year in 1951."

TO SENTENCE GOLD

Philadelphia, Oct. 10 (AP)—Harry Gold, 39-year-old Philadelphia research chemist who has admitted giving America's atom secrets to Russian spies, will be sentenced on October 19. Originally, U. S. District Judge James P. McGranery set the sentencing date for October 18. He did not give a reason for changing the time in yesterday's announcement.

BUYS CHUNK OF BROWNS' STOCK

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns, who a few months ago were dabbling with a psychiatrist, welcomed a Metropolitan Opera star into the organization today.

Blonde Helen Traubel said she's always loved the Browns and so she bought a "nice chunk" of stock "mostly to satisfy a sentimental urge." Bill Dewitt, president of the ball club, confirmed the new member of the front office family and said he hoped Miss Traubel would sing "The Star Spangled Banner" at the opening game next year.

Neither would confirm the amount of the stock. The singer merely said, "It's a nice chunk."

Miss Traubel was asked about reports that Branch Rickey also may buy into the St. Louis club. "I don't know Mr. Rickey personally," she said, "and I don't know his plans but I have my own ideas."

Rickey has been reported lining up with the Browns and the Pittsburgh Pirates since disposing of his Brooklyn stock.

Miss Traubel, St. Louis born, said she always had been sentimental about the Browns "because they are my first recollections of baseball."

Archers Hope To Get
Own Deer Season

Harrisburg, Oct. 10 (AP)—Pennsylvanians who prefer to hunt Robin Hood style—with bow and arrow—have high hopes this year of gaining their own private deer season.

The past 13 years the bow and arrow nimrods have fought in vain to win a special deer season all their own.

But this year things will be different, says Clayton B. Shenk, of Lancaster, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Archery Association.

Shenk said a resolution backing the proposal lost endorsement by a hair last year at the annual Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs convention. This year, Shenk says, archery enthusiasts believe they have gained enough support to get the federation's endorsement.

Once they do this they are almost certain to win a special deer season from the state Game Commission, says Shenk. The federation holds its annual convention here this Friday and Saturday.

Charged In Death
Of Foster Child

Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—State police said a charge of involuntary manslaughter will be filed against 31-year-old Mrs. Anna Mast in connection with the death of her foster child.

Sgt. Styles Smith of the Ephrata barracks said the decision was reached last night after a conference with District Attorney John M. Ranck. Dr. Edwin Ziegler, pathologist at St. Joseph's hospital, said four-year-old Georgianna Taylor died of "external violence." He conducted the autopsy. The child died Saturday.

Mrs. Mast lives in nearby Elverson, which is located between Coatesville and Morganstown. She told state police she had spanked the child Friday morning. The child's head struck a step. Mrs. Mast said Sgt. Smith reported that the girl became unconscious after Mrs. Mast "set her down on a step for refusing to count to five."

PIAA TO VOTE ON CHANGES IN CAGE PROGRAM

Harrisburg, Oct. 10 (AP)—District committees of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association soon will vote on a new amendment limiting the practice and playing season for basketball.

The 12 committees will vote on the proposed amendment to the PIAA by-laws at the annual meetings during November and the early part of December.

The proposal would prohibit any basketball practice prior to each November 15 and start the regular season on December 1. It is similar to present regulations limiting the football season.

At the same time, Edmund Wicht, PIAA executive director, said the Class A basketball championship game will be held again in the University of Pennsylvania Palestra in Philadelphia. The game had tentatively been slated for the new University of Pittsburgh field house, the first time in 10 years it had been scheduled for Western Pennsylvania.

"We had wanted to give the west a chance to see the game," Wicht said, "but the new University of Pittsburgh field house will not be completed in time for the game."

West's Game In 1952

However, Wicht indicated that the west probably will be host to the game in 1952 when the field house is completed. The new arena will seat 7,500 compared to the Palestra's 5,100. Next year's game is set for Saturday, March 31.

Wicht said Pennsylvania is one of four state high school athletic associations without any regulations controlling the practice and playing season for basketball. Others are Kentucky, Louisiana and Maine.

Some schools, where basketball is the major sport, start practicing for the cage season soon after the school year begins in September. Wicht explained.

The new by-laws would prohibit any interscholastic basketball games between the Class A state championship tilt at the end of March and December 1. Wicht said there had been one request for a high school game in June. He did not identify the school.

Another proposed amendment, approved by the board of control and to be voted upon at the same time by the district committees, would eliminate the words, "both school and" from this present by-laws:

"No contest shall be played with another school not belonging to this association, unless its eligibility rules for both school and contestant, meet the requirement of this association."

ARMY RANKED AS TOP TEAM IN GRID POLL

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The mid-west's post-war strangeness was broken today and a wide open battle shaped up for national college football honors.

Four-time champion Notre Dame plummeted to tenth place in the weekly Associated Press poll while Army took over as the No. 1 team in the country.

The Midlands, which have furnished the mythical titleholder nine of the 15 times since 1936 and continuously since the last war, were not out of contention.

Their best showing in the top ten was No. 9, held down by the Purdue team that splintered Notre Dame's reign with a 28-14 victory last Saturday at South Bend.

The stoutest challenge to Army's position came from the southwest, which put three unbeaten titans—Southern Methodist, Oklahoma and Texas—on the Cadet's heels.

Here's the latest rundown of gridiron might, with every section represented:

Army, SMU, Oklahoma, Texas, Kentucky, Stanford, California, Maryland, Purdue and Notre Dame. Army, recognized national champion in 1945, will risk its newly gained height in New York's Yankee stadium Saturday against Michigan, co-champion of the big ten and tops in the nation in 1948.

The standings are bound to get another good shaking as the result of the big doubleheader show in Dallas.

Oklahoma, No. 3, and Texas, No. 4, collide in a Saturday afternoon game in the Cotton bowl, while SMU, No. 2, entertains unbeaten but once-tied Oklahoma A & M there that night.

The best of the top ten plays lower level opponents, like this: Kentucky vs. Cincinnati, Stanford vs. Santa Clara, California vs. Southern California, Maryland vs. Georgetown, Purdue vs. Miami (Fla.), Notre Dame vs. Tulane.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Ray Malavasi, regarded by army coaches as their best lineman, may not play at all this season. . . . The knee he hurt in the Boston U. scrimmage last spring and reinjured on a diving board during the summer began to balloon again the other day when he flexed it too much. . . . Maybe the Yankees aren't interested in Ferris Fain, the A's first baseman, but Casey Stengel spent at least ten minutes the other day raving about Fain's fielding. . . . When the football Giants were licking the Cleveland Browns last week, the thing burning a hole on Paul Brown's pocket was a letter from a fan who said he wouldn't attend another Brown game until some "real competition" was offered. . . . Jim Burchard of the New York World-Telegram and Sun suggests nick-naming Howie Odell "digger" after the radio grave excavator. Howie's Washington team really has been burying the opposition.

PAPPY WASN'T HAPPY

After Washington and Lee's footballers had handed West Virginia a 26-7 licking, Art (Pappy) Lewis, the West Virginia coach, went to a Lynchburg, Va., hospital to visit his injured fullback, John Murphy. . . . Athletic Director Legs Hawley, a fast-moving guy, and other Athletic staff members already had been there. . . . Lewis asked if he could see Murphy and got this reply: "Yes, you may see him. The coach already has been here." . . . Murphy's doctor grinned and told Art: "West Virginia sure works fast in getting a new coach."

SHORTS AND SHIELDS

Don Coleman, Michigan State's fine tackle, fought "overweight" at 184 pounds this fall. He played at 174 last season and is five pounds heavier now that he's in shape again. . . . And Tom Gelderman, Marquette center, is an active member of the Chicago board of trade. . . . Sometimes umpires do admit they "blow" a decision. In a television interview during the 1950 world series, Harry Gelsel, former American league ump, admitted that he called one wrong during the 1920 series. . . . While Buster Sheary, Holy Cross basketball coach, is tutoring G's in Germany, assistant Bobby Currin is getting the Crusaders ready to open the season.

Army To Examine Ed Ford Today

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Ed Ford, rookie left-hander who won the World Series-clinching game for the New York Yankees last Saturday, underwent a physical examination today for army service.

The 21-year-old New Yorker had been examined in September but was deferred temporarily because doctors found a trace of some tropical germ in his system.

He won nine games for the Yankees after joining the team in July. He beat the Phillies in the fourth game of the series, 5-2.

MANY CONTESTS THIS WEEK FOR COUNTY TEAMS

There will be plenty of action for local gridiron teams on home and foreign fields this week.

Gettysburg high returns to its home field Friday night when it will attempt to break a two-game losing streak at the expense of winless Waynesboro in a South Penn conference game.

Biglerville high, sporting one of the best records in this section as the result of five wins in as many starts, takes on West York in a Conference of the Roses game Thursday night on the Caner gridiron.

The injury-riddled Gettysburg college squad faces one of its most formidable rivals Saturday afternoon when it clashes with Lehigh at Bethlehem. Another casualty was added to the Bullet list Sunday evening when Bobby Bitner, first string quarterback, slipped on a curb and suffered a severely sprained left ankle which now has him hobbling on crutches.

Rogers Herr's Gettysburg junior high eleven, defeated by Delone 18-6 in its opener, plays at Bolling Springs Wednesday evening, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Also scheduled for Wednesday is the Paradise Proctery-Biglerville jayvee game at Biglerville at 7:30 p.m.

Fresh Play Thursday

The Gettysburg college freshmen, coached by Clyde Cole, will make their debut Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock when the Dickinson college yearlings will be met here.

Delone Catholic high of McSherrystown takes on Carson Long Institute of New Bloomfield Thursday night on the Squires' field.

Clay Evans' Littlestown outfit draws another rugged assignment Friday night when it battles Westminster, beaten only by Gettysburg, in the Maryland town.

York Springs, idle last week, clashes with Washington Township in a Laurel conference game Friday night at Washington Township.

The Biglerville junior high team will engage Delone at McSherrystown Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Also listed this week are the following contests: Wednesday, Lehigh at Gettysburg, soccer; Friday, Mercersburg academy vs. the college frosh, here, soccer; Saturday, Drexel vs. Gettysburg, soccer, and the Bullet-Lehigh cross-country run at Bethlehem.

Eastern League

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—Attendance at games in the Eastern league this season was 29.9 per cent lower than in 1949, League President Thomas H. Richardson reported today.

During the regular 1950 season, the teams drew 712,578 with an additional 28,498 for the Governors' cup playoffs. This made a grand total of 740,986, compared to 1,016,789 for 1949.

The 1949 playoffs drew 49,201, or 20,793 more post-season fans than this year.

President Richardson blamed the decline on bad weather.

"In the 13 years that I have been president," he said, "we never experienced such miserable weather as this season. Despite the big loss in attendance," he added, "we are looking forward to a bigger year in 1951."

Philadelphia, Oct. 10 (AP)—Harry Gold, 39-year-old Philadelphia research chemist who has admitted giving America's atom secrets to Russian spies, will be sentenced on October 19. Originally, U. S. District Judge James P. McGranery set the sentencing date for October 18. He did not give a reason for changing the time in yesterday's announcement.

3 CHS GAMES YIELD $3,973

Gate receipts for the Carlisle-Gettysburg high school football game here September 29 were the highest for the first three home games of the season and more than doubled the sum received at the opening game with Westminster.

Figures on the football game were revealed in the monthly athletic fund report presented Monday evening at the October meeting of the Gettysburg Joint school district board.

The Carlisle game brought in $1,944.45 at the game while the preceding week the Delone high game took was $1,233.15. The opening game with Westminster high brought in only $796.20 through the turnstiles. The total for the three games was $3,973.60.

Other receipt items included the $150 guarantee received on the Hanover game last Friday and a $2,500 bank loan. Program ads netted another $355 and program sales brought in $305.

Expenditures covered in the report totaled $4,440.64, leaving a fund balance of $2,994 but an athletic council member said there are bills to be paid that will reduce that figure. Largest expense items included $1,933 for bleacher steel, $556 for lumber and $420 to Camp Nawakwa where the pre-season football camp was held.

Harrisburg, Oct. 10 (AP)—Some 50,000 hunters are expected to join in stalking dove and woodcock through the one-month season opening today. Both of the small birds will be legal quarry until November 8. Hunters will be permitted to kill 10 doves a day. The top on Woodcock will be four. The State Game commission said that more of both species will be available than last season when 10,840 doves and 26,784 woodcock were bagged.

BUYS CHUNK OF BROWNS' STOCK

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns, who a few months ago were dabbling with a psychiatrist, welcomed a Metropolitan Opera star into the organization today.

Blonde Helen Traubel said she's always loved the Browns and so she bought a "nice chunk" of stock "mostly to satisfy a sentimental urge."

Bill Dewitt, president of the ball club, confirmed the new member of the front office family and said he hoped Miss Traubel would sing "The Star Spangled Banner" at the opening game next year.

Neither would confirm the amount of the stock. The singer merely said, "It's a nice chunk."

Miss Traubel was asked about reports that Branch Rickey also may buy into the St. Louis club. "I don't know Mr. Rickey personally," she said, "and I don't know his plans but I have my own ideas."

Rickey has been reported lining up with the Browns and the Pittsburgh Pirates since disposing of his Brooklyn stock.

Praises Newspapers For Aiding Uncle Sam

Harrisburg, Oct. 10 (AP)—Pennsylvania's newspapers deserve laurels for their voluntary contributions of space to publicize government drives. That's the opinion of Edwin S. Friendly, president of the American Newspaper Publishers association.

"The press has given more in public service and earned relatively less in profits than most any business in America," he told the closing session of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publisher's 26th annual convention.

"The record of the PNPA is a good one in this respect," he added. Friendly also urged the newspapers to guard against "government laxity or public apathy" in enforcement of the new Communist control law. "Let's not let the commies get away with it," he said. "Let us squeeze the Reds into rigid control through forceful government processes and constant exposure, reminder and criticism in the press."

Harrisburg, Oct. 10 (AP)—Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) said today he would seek a change of the Utility law to require the Public Utility commission to issue written orders in all rate increase cases.

Yosko said he was "shocked to learn" that minutes of the commission's executive sessions were not open for public information.

"The fourth horizon of Rotary, international service, although presently darkened by war clouds, is the area in which we as members of Rotary International can do most. Individually you may have a feeling of futility but when you realize that there are nearly 3,000 clubs outside the United States you will recognize that there is in Rotary a great force at work seeking international understanding."

James S. Cairns, reporting on the recent sponsorship of a circus by the Rotary club, told the group that the club realized a net profit of $803.56 on the circus. Advance sales of tickets, both adults and children, by members to the club totaled 3,268. He praised John D. Teeter, Dr. Granville Schultz, Earl C. Pace and Robert Codori particularly for assistance given in the circus project.

Plans for a rummage sale to be held November 4 by the club were outlined by Cairns who urged the members to begin gathering together clothes now for the sale.

Plan Dental Clinic

Principal use of the funds raised this year by the club will be to provide a dental clinic for children of the county. Just what plan will be used for the clinic is not known as yet, the club was told. To furnish a room at the hospital as a dental clinic would cost approximately $5,000, the club was told. As a result, to get more practical use of the money raised, the club may be able to work out a plan whereby youngsters in need of special dental care may go to the dentist of their choice and Rotary pay a portion or all of such special dental care as may be needed.

Plans to nominate a local college graduate for a Rotary fellowship were outlined. The Rotary fellowships, Shisler explained, provide funds for one year of study and travel abroad for young men and women who have completed their college work and received their

The member boards will go to next Monday's meeting prepared to take formal action on agreements amending their present jointure contracts to provide for the annual rentals for the new building. Representatives of the C. C. Collins company of Philadelphia and the Freeman and Blair Rollins firms discussed bond offers with the authority and later submitted offers in writing.

As the various steps were taken Monday evening every effort was made to speed up procedures so that work can begin as soon as possible on the new building and that tight materials may be ordered at the best possible prices and at the earliest date so that the authority would stand the best possible chance of prompt completion of the construction work.

The 19 properties Mr. Bigham purchased contain a total of 1,666 acres and cost $414,125, according to records in the office of the recorder of deeds at the court house. In some instances where farms sold for $40,000 or more old assessment figures around $1,500 now stand at $11,000 or more.

44 Other Appeals

The assessors in the cases are expected to claim at the hearings that the purchase of the properties established an "actual value" for them and that the assessment made is within the approximately 23 percent of actual value assessment that is used as the base for most assessments in the county.

In addition to the 17 Bigham appeals, 30 appeals are listed from East Bertha where a new assessor has raised a number of properties and about 14 other appeals from various sections of the county are also scheduled for hearings before the commissioners.

The commissioners plan to begin hearings Wednesday on the various appeals and continue with hearings the following Wednesday and Thursday.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
KOREA

I wonder how many people who read this newspaper, about what is going on in Korea, know what it is all about? For years I had read bits of things in the newspapers and magazines, but never have I had a clear idea until I recently read a most absorbing and enlightening book entitled "Why War Came in Korea," by Dr. Robert T. Oliver, a man who has been a student and expert observer, as well as friend and trusted adviser, of President Rhee, for many years.

After reading this book you will look in clearer fashion upon the struggle that is being experienced in that four thousand year old country, and the efforts of its people for a free country. The book is not a study of the war that is now going on, but its background, and the dream of Koreans for security and happiness among the useful nations of the world.

Dr. Oliver, who spent many years in Korea, tells you of the country, its people, its resources, its advantages and disadvantages, and the courage with which its people have looked and worked toward freedom and independence. And he reviews the many instances of power politics that have had so much to do with the present situation, with its tragic toll of the brave lads sent there to stem the tide of communism.

I was impressed by a quotation to a news service by the Korean ambassador to the United States, in which he said: "I have been awesomely conscious that here is no fight to be won by man alone. It is a fight to be won by the prayers and faith of all men, if it is to be won at all. . . .
We need many prayers—many more prayers than we need bullets. We need a vast voice, rising to heaven, reaffirming our faith in God and entrusting to Him our most sacred hopes."

This book by Dr. Oliver is one that should be read by every intelligent reader today. It is forthright and revealing, and would open the eyes of many a legislator. The author has written this book from his heart.
Read it and learn something of the meaning of the tragic sacrifices being made now in Korea to strike the bonds of slavery from a brave people—and perhaps from a world as well!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Windows."

THE GOLFING BARBER
The Barber of Bad Axe had woe on his face.

"All summer," said he, "I've been painting the golf. I've played little place. Almost none," he complained.

"On the few afternoons that I had off it rained."

I'm shanking approaches and hooking my drive."

But he shot the first nine in a neat thirty-five.

Last year it was dandruff that ruined his game.

This year from a paint brush his poor putting came.

Fresh coating the window sills gives to the wrist.

Of a golfer a most unreliable twist.
But the barber of Bad Axe, in spite of his woes.

The second nine finished with thirty-eight blows.

For twenty-five years, it is truth that I tell.

The barber of Bad Axe has never been well.

Through all the diseases his ailments have run.

Yet his health has improved once a game was begun.

And though painter's colic his eyesight had dimmed.

By the barber of Bad Axe again I was trimmed.

FDIC PROTECTS CECIL ACCOUNTS

Washington, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—The Federal Deposit Insurance corporation put nearly $750,000 in the First National bank of McDonald today to protect depositors in the closed
First National bank at nearby Cecil.
John L. Cecil, attorney for the FDIC, says there are irregularities on the books of the Cecil bank which "may add to a shortage in excess of $600,000."

Cecil said the irregularities came to light following the suicide last September 23 of John Warner, the Cecil bank's cashier. The Washington county coroner's office said
Warner committed suicide by shooting himself in front of the bank's vault just as the bank was opening for business.

All affairs of the closed bank are being handled now by the McDonald bank. Accounts of the Cecil bank's depositors automatically are transferred.

Attorney Cecil said M. T. Harl, chairman of the FDIC, declared that not a single depositor of the Cecil bank will lose a penny. The FDIC counsel added: "Each depositor of the First National bank in Cecil should verify his account with representatives of the FDIC at the Cecil office which will be open for such purposes for several weeks."

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henri Pelletier. Her sister, Linda, 3, is in fair condition at Salem hospital.

Their mother, Theresa, 27, was taken to the same hospital in "very poor" condition suffering head and possible internal injuries.

Police said all three hurtled 35 feet from the kitchen window of the Pelletier apartment, landing on a gravel driveway. The 26-year-old

Penna. Crime Rate Shows Little Change

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—A FBI report shows that Pennsylvania's crime rate during the first six months of 1950 was about the same as a similar period last year.

The report listed the Keystone state as having less murder, manslaughter, robbery, larceny-theft and auto theft in 1950 but more aggravated assault and burglary-breaking-entering.

Based on the number of offenses per 100,000 population, Pennsylvania's figures were: murder-manslaughter, 1.55 (down .09 compared with the first half of 1949); robbery, 22.1 (down 1.6); aggravated assault,
17.8 (up 1.9); burglary, etc., 108.3 (up
6.7); larceny-theft, 168.9 (down
8.8); auto theft, 48.6 (down 18.7).

Figures for the nation were: 2.76
(down .06); 30 (down 1.6); 39.4
(down 4); 211.5 (up 2.3); 499.1 (up 6); 83.8 (up 2).

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 10 (AP)—A 27-year-old civility school graduate said the suspected slayer of Dr. Lewis Thorne was Theodore A. Trent-

Lyon of New Haven. He said Trent-Lyon was identified by Mrs. Thorne after he was picked up by two became suspicious of him while he

Looking for POWER?

Better Buy Buick!

THE practical answer to that one is found in this year's experience with the SUPER and SPECIAL—and even the ROADMASTER.

In all three, the horsepower was stepped up at the start of the year—and in all three, happy owners report the best mileage in modern Buick experience.

This is due to a little-known but authentic engineering fact—which is that an engine burns less gas when it doesn't have to labor. At any normal driving speed, therefore, extra power is extra thrifty.

So we say again—if you're looking for power—mighty power—buoyant power—silken power—thrifty power—better buy Buick.

Your Buick dealer is eager for the chance to demonstrate how sound this hint really is.

But the best way to find out what all this means is to touch off the eager horsepower out on the highway by a gentle nudge of your toe—and feel your shoulders press deep in the cushions behind them.

Now all this sounds thrilling, you say, but how about the feed-bills for all these horses? How about miles-per-gallon?

Only BUICK has Dynaflow Drive® and with it goes: HIGHER-COMPRESSION. Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW, (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW, PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD fender, taper-through fenders • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and gauging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS, ing, short turning radius • SOFT BUICK RIDE, cradled between the axles • SAFETY-RIDE rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steady torque-tube pressure tires, ride-steady torque-tube

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

KOREA

I wonder how many people who read this newspaper, about what is going on in Korea, know what it is all about? For years I had read bits of things in the newspapers and magazines, but never have I had a clear idea until I recently read a most absorbing and enlightening book entitled "Why War Came in Korea," by Dr. Robert T. Oliver, a man who has been a student and expert observer, as well as friend and trusted adviser, of President Rhee, for many years.

After reading this book you will look in clearer fashion upon the struggle that is being experienced in that four thousand year old country, and the efforts of its people for a free country. The book is not a study of the war that is now going on, but its background, and the dream of Koreans for security and happiness among the useful nations of the world.

Dr. Oliver, who spent many years in Korea, tells you of the country, its people, its resources, its advantages and disadvantages, and the courage with which its people have looked and worked toward freedom and independence. And he reviews the many instances of power politics that have had so much to do with the present situation, with its tragic toll of the brave lads sent there to stem the tide of communism.

I was impressed by a quotation to a news service by the Korean ambassador to the United States, in which he said: "I have been awesomely conscious that here is no fight to be won by man alone. It is a fight to be won by the prayers and faith of all men, if it is to be won at all. . . . We need many prayers—many more prayers than we need bullets. We need a vast voice, rising to heaven, reaffirming our faith in God and entrusting to Him our most sacred hopes."

This book by Dr. Oliver is one that should be read by every intelligent reader today. It is forthright and revealing, and would open the eyes of many a legislator. The author has written this book from his heart. Read it and learn something of the meaning of the tragic sacrifices being made now in Korea to strike the bonds of slavery from a brave people—and perhaps from a world as well!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Windows."

THE GOLFING BARBER

The Barber of Bad Axe had woe on his face.
"All summer," said he, "I've been painting the place.
I've played little golf. Almost none," he complained.
"On the few afternoons that I had off it rained.
I'm shanking approaches and hooking my drive."
But he shot the first nine in a neat thirty-five.

Last year it was dandruff that ruined his game.
This year from a paint brush his poor putting came.
Fresh coating the window sills gives to the wrist.
Of a golfer a most unreliable twist.
But the barber of Bad Axe, in spite of his woes.
The second nine finished with thirty-eight blows.

For twenty-five years, it is truth that I tell.
The barber of Bad Axe has never been well.
Through all the diseases his ailments have run.
Yet his health has improved once a game was begun.
And though painter's colic his eyesight had dimmed.
By the barber of Bad Axe again I was trimmed.

FDIC PROTECTS CECIL ACCOUNTS

Washington, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation on Oct. 10 nearly $750,000 in the First National bank of McDonald today to protect depositors in the closed bank. The FDIC, acting for the FDIC, says there are no liabilities on the books of the Cecil bank which may add to a shortage in excess of $600,000.

Cecil said the irregularities came to light following the suicide last September 23 of John Warner, the Cecil bank's cashier. The Washington county coroner's office said Warner committed suicide by shooting himself in front of the bank's vault just as the bank was opening for business.

All affairs of the closed bank are being handled now by the McDonald bank accounts or the Cecil bank's deposits automatically are transferred.

Altonay Cecil said M. T. Hall, chairman of the FDIC, declared that for a single depositor of the Cecil bank will lose a penny. "The FDIC counsel added: 'Each depositor of the First National bank in Cecil should verify his account with representatives of the FDIC at the Cecil office which will be open for such purposes for several weeks.'

Looking for POWER?

Better Buy Buick!

THE bold banner that stretches out before your eyes on a 1950 Buick isn't there just for show.

Lift it up, and you'll find that the space beneath is abundantly occupied, by one of the biggest hoodfuls of power you'll find in any motorcar.

What you're looking at is Buick's modern version of the high-compression valve-in-head engine, which gains extra wallop from the fact that it uses the exclusive Fireball combustion principle.

We could list a lot of mechanical reasons why fuel gives up extra power in a Fireball engine—how it's wrapped in a swirling, ball-shaped charge—how it burns with a smooth, clean thrust that delivers maximum action.

But the best way to find out what all this means is to touch off the eager horsepower out on the highway by a gentle nudge of your toe—and feel your shoulders press deep in the cushions behind them.

Now all this sounds thrilling, you say, but how about the feed-bills for all these horses? How about miles-per-gallon?

The practical answer to that one is found in this year's experience with the SUPER and SPECIAL—and even the ROADMASTER.

In all three, the horsepower was stepped up at the start of the year—and in all three, happy owners report the best mileage in modern Buick experience.

This is due to a little-known but authentic engineering fact—which is that an engine burns less gas when it doesn't have to labor. At any normal driving speed, therefore, extra power is extra thrifty.

So we say again—if you're looking for power—mighty power—buoyant power—silken power—thrifty power—better buy Buick.

Your Buick dealer is eager for the chance to demonstrate how sound this hint really is.

Only BUICK has Dynaflow Drive* and with it goes: HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models) • NEW PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD fender, taper-through fenders for easier parking and gauging over-all length for easier parking and gauging. Chapter 14

The death of the veterinary, with its attendant complications had had a sobering effect on Jess Plum. Having passed his word to Dr. Logan concerning the dissolution of the cattle-rustling partnership, Plum cast about for a profitable and more honest livelihood. He became a moonshiner.

And then one Sunday night Gabe Duncan returned. Rather, it was between one and two o'clock Monday morning when the ershwhile cattle rustler rode into the clearing and loudly hailed the Plum cabin. Plum recognized the coarse voice in displeasure. Reluctantly he went, bareheaded and barefooted, out onto the porch.

Just beyond the steps sat a horseman. Behind him loomed two other riders as Plum held up his lantern. "Howdy, Plum," Duncan greeted in crude irony. "Thought yuh was dead. Yuh usta guard yore place better'n this."

"I'm out o' the cattle business, Gabe Duncan, and ye know it," Plum said. "I ain't got nary thing to guard. What brings ye back here? Ye said ye was leavin' this country after Doc Bryant got touched off."

"I did. Been up Colorado way, Jess. On the way now to old Mexico to line up with the rurales. We drifted by here, knowin' yuh'd put us up for the night."

"I guess so," Plum conceded slowly. "Light down and dump yer saddles on the porch."

"That sounds more like it," Duncan grunted, dismounting. "Climb down, boys, and meet Jess Plum. These fellers is Gip Knowles and Zeke Lemley, Jess. I've told 'em about yuh."

Plum swung his lantern higher to reveal a pair of heavy countenances if anything less prepossessing than Duncan's ugly features. "Ye can have this lantern, Gabe. And take the last cabin."

"So yuh're makin' moonshine? How about a gallon? It'd shore hit the spot, hey, fellers?"

There was vociferous approval on the part of Knowles and Lemley. Plum looked perturbed, but he raised no objection.

"Slim'll get it fer ye," he said in a troubled voice and went back to bed to lie thoughtfully awake for an hour. He was more silent than usual at the breakfast table, and the two women forbore to question him. He brooded the rest of the morning as he idled his time away. A feeling that something was off-color, that all was not right, possessed him and gradually communicated itself to others.

It was noon before there was any sign from the last cabin. Then Duncan came out and went to the wall for water.

"Hey, Jess," he yelled. "Reckon we kinda slept late. How 'bout a little grub? We're traveling' sorta light."

"The women's fixin' dinner," Plum answered heavily. "I figgered ye'd eat afore ye left. I'll call ye."

At the dinner table as the five men were silently served by Ivy and Maw Plum he said:

"Ye fellers air gettin' a late start. How far ye figgerin' on makin' it afore night?"

The three glanced at each other. Duncan grinned lazily.

"Don't reckon we'll pull out today at all, Jess," he drawled. "We'll visit with yuh a spell—even if yuh ain't actin' real hospital."

"I thought you said Plum was a friend of yourn."

"See how yuh got the boys atthinkin'?" Duncan complained. "We ain't goin' to trouble yuh none. All we ast the wimmenfolks is to cook some extra vittles. We got the money to pay fer boardin' us and our brones fer a few days. Ain't we, boys?"

"Plenty," Lemley and Knowles growled in unison, grinning wolfishly.

"Since that's settled," Duncan went on, spread a slab of corn dodger with his fork. "That's purty good likker yuh're makin', Jess. What'll yuh charge us fer another gallon of it?"

Plum considered several things as he scratched and combed at his beard. Then, resigning himself to a situation he could not seem to help at the moment: "I been gettin' two dollars."

"We'll take it," Duncan agreed promptly. "Trot out a jug right after dinner, and keep tab on what we owe yuh. Got a deck of cards?"

Plum spent the afternoon on his porch smoking pipeful after pipeful of home-made twist, wrestling with his problem while the sounds of revelry at the far cabin grew louder under the loosening magic of liquor. By supertime, as his three unwelcome guests fairly reeled to his cabin, Plum had reached no definite conclusion.

"What's yore son?" Lemley demanded.

"Slim'll be home soon," Plum said tersely. "but he ain't goin' to play cards with ye."

"How 'bout actin' sociable?" inquired Knowles. "I don't like sulky folks myself."

"Gip's right, Jess," Duncan said. "And the jug's dry. Bring over another gallon after supper and thaw out. The boys want to get acquainted with yuh."

"That's the ticket," endorsed Lemley, smiling sourly. "If yuh don't come—we'll come up to yore cabin."

Under this compulsion Plum went reluctantly down to their cabin. Plum's gaze rested on the table. There were stacks of greenbacks in front of each of the trio. Despite their earlier talk, this was the first indication of money Plum had seen—and this was too much money.

Duncan looked up at Plum, and his voice and gaze were at variance with his drunken appearance.

"Slim back yet, Jess?" he asked casually.

"Not yet. Ye ought to remember how he does when he goes over to Buckner's to court Lizzie."

"I do. I jest wanna be shore yuh didn't send him some-eres else."

"I know what ye mean," Plum said shortly, his suspicions now crystallized into certainty. "Ye lied to me, Gabe Duncan. Ye three buzzards held up a stagecoach or robbed a bank, and ye're usin' my place fer a hide out."

Lemley uttered an angry exclamation and struggled to his feet, reaching for his hip. But Duncan was quicker. He sprang erect and thrust the surly Lemley back into his chair.

"Cut that out, Zeke," he ordered. "Yuh got us all wrong, Jess, and yuh can see the boys don't cotton to such uply talk. I reckon it's my turn to come up in the collar. I been believin' you and trustin' you and defendin' you all this time to Zeke and Gip. Shore, I remember Slim's habits. But listen to this! If Slim Tackett ain't back here by midnight I'll know what yuh've done. Yuh won't doublecross nobody else, that's all. Now uncork yore fresh jug and let's drink and play cards sociable-like the way ole friends ought to. Set down, Jess."

U.S. REFUSES RUSS PROTEST ON "STRAFING"

Moscow, Oct. 10 (AP) — Russia charged today that two American fighter planes strafed and damaged a Soviet airfield near the key Siberian seaport of Vladivostok last Sunday.

(In Tokyo, an official U. S. Air Force spokesman said he is "unable to comment at this time" on the Russian assertion.)

A Russian protest note was proffered to U. S. Minister-Counsellor Walworth Barbour last night by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. The note placed the incident 62 miles north of the Soviet-Korean border.

It demanded "strict punishment" for the "responsible personnel" and American assurances against such incidents in the future.

No Casualties Claimed

The note said two F-50 shooting star jets machinegunned an airfield in the Sukhaya Rechka area at 4:17 p.m. (local time) Sunday. Sukhaya Rechka is across Novik Bay from Vladivostok and about 18 miles southwest of that important Siberian rail and shipping terminus.

"As a result of the firing, damage was inflicted on airdrome equipment," the note declared. It made no mention of casualties.

Barbour declined to accept the note on the grounds the protest was a matter for the United Nations to handle.

Gromyko disagreed, arguing that since the note dealt with the firing by American planes on a Soviet installation, it was the sole concern of the two governments involved.

The note subsequently was sent by the Russians to the U. S. embassy. U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk, who had been in bed with a cold, went there early this morning to inform the State department of the Soviet communication.

It was published in Moscow papers without editorial comment.

"In connection with these provocative actions of the American Air Force, expressed in a gross violation of the U. S. S. R. State frontier, x x x and in firing on a Soviet airdrome, the Soviet government launches a resolute protest with the government of the United States," the note said.

Same Pattern Before

In refusing to accept the note, Barbour took the same stand as was taken by the United States last September, when Russia protested the downing of a Soviet plane by American aircraft off Korea.

That note was never accepted by the United States, and Russia submitted it to the United Nations for consideration only, not for action. It has remained shelved so far.

Korea has a long common frontier with Manchuria, China, but borders on the Soviet union for only about 20 miles along the extreme north-eastern tip of Northern Korea.

Says Administration Squandered Wealth

Du Bois, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP) — The "sewer of Socialistic experiment" has swallowed up billions of dollars during President Truman's administration, the State Secretary of Internal Affairs declared last night.

William S. Livengood, Jr., who is campaigning for re-election, told an audience here: "If Mr. Truman had not squandered billions on Socialistic experiments, there would be plenty of money for national defense without any increase in taxes."

He added: "Worse still, the President threatens another increase if Democrats are elected to the Senate and House."

"Old Ironsides" was launched in 1797.

CATTLE—Fresh receipts were estimated at 1,900 to mark the smallest Monday in four weeks. Count fell 30 per cent short of the run last Monday and figured a decrease of 20 per cent from the corresponding day in 1949.

Sizable receipts not as about as fresh supplies would indicate, however, a decrease of only 16 per cent.

Slaughter steers again formed bulk of sales, but with receipts of 60 head on offer, also included in receipts was equivalent of 17 loads of stock cuttle.

Baltes had the most of the cuttle, with a few cows and bulls with about a normal number of heifers on offer, including one full load. Medium and heavy grades shorted, and grass steers made up the bulk of the run. Dealings very slow in all departments.

In all departments, a general work lower, but noticeably ample fills tended to offset paper losses in many instances.

Dealers in cow department very uneven and slow. Scatterings of all classes of cows were about steady with late last week but later dealings frequently 50c lower and some late sales of common to good offerings showed declines measuring around $1. Numerous cows still unsold and some carried sharply lower by at 1 P.M. Sales of good cows $22 in early dealings. Most of the common and medium cows $18.50-21.50 and canners and cuttle, $14-18.50 but shelly canners down to $12 or below.

Sauvage bulls met a broader demand than any other class of cattle and moved to the scales at moderately steady prices compared with last week.

The RANGE DOCTOR

by OSCAR J. FRIEND

Chapter 14

The death of the veterinary, with its attendant complications had had a sobering effect on Jess Plum. Having passed his word to Dr. Logan concerning the dissolution of the cattle-rustling partnership, Plum cast about for a profitable and more honest livelihood. He became a moonshiner.

And then one Sunday night Gabe Duncan returned. Rather, it was between one and two o'clock Monday morning when the ersatz cattle rustler rode into the clearing and loudly halted the Plum cabin. Plum recognized the coarse voice in displeasure. Reluctantly he went, bareheaded and barefooted, out onto the porch.

Just beyond the steps sat a horseman. Behind him loomed two other riders as Plum held up his lantern. "Howdy, Plum," Duncan greeted in crude irony. "Thought yuh was dead. Yuh usta guard yore place better'n this."

"I'm out o' the cattle business, Gabe Duncan, and ye know it," Plum said. "I ain't got nary thing to guard. What brings ye back here? Ye said ye was leavin' this country after Doc Bryan got touched off."

"I did. Been up Colorado way, Jess. On the way now to ole Mexico to fine up with the rurales. We drifted by here, knowin' yuh'd put us up for the night."

"I guess so," Plum conceded slowly. "Light down and dump yer saddles on the porch."

"That sounds more like it," Duncan grunted, dismounting. "Climb down, boys, and meet Jess Plum. These fellers is Gif Knowles and Zeke Lemley, Jess. I've told 'em about yuh."

Plum swung his lantern higher to reveal a pair of heavy countenances if anything less prepossessing than Duncan's ugly features. "Ye can have this lantern, Gabe. And take the last cabin."

"So yuh're makin' moonshine? How about a gallon? It'd shore hit the spot, hey, fellers?"

There was vociferous approval on the part of Knowles and Lemley. Plum looked perturbed, but he raised no objection.

"Slin' get it fer ye," he said in a troubled voice, and went back to bed to lie thoughtfully awake for an hour. He was more silent than usual at the breakfast table, and the two women forbore to question him. He brooded the rest of the morning as he idled his time away. A feeling that something was off-color, that all was not right, possessed him and gradually communicated itself to others.

It was noon before there was any sign from the last cabin. Then Duncan came out and went to the wall for water.

"Hey, Jess," he yelled. "Reckon we kinda slept late. How 'bout a little grub? We're traveling' sorta light."

"The women's fixin' dinner," Plum answered heavily. "I figured ye'd eat afore ye left. I'll call ye."

At the dinner table as the five men were silently served by Ivy and Maw Plum he said:

"Ye fellers air gettin' a late start. How far ye figgerin' on makin' it afore night?"

The three glanced at each other. Duncan grinned lazily.

"Don't reckon we'll pull out today at all Jess," he drawled. "We'll visit with yuh a spell—even if yuh ain't actin' real hospital."

"I thought you said Plum was a friend of yours."

"See how yuh got the boys athinkin'?" Duncan complained. "We ain't goin' to trouble yuh none. All we ast the whimmofoiks is to cook some extra vittles. We got the money to pay fer boardin' us and our brones fer a few days. Ain't we, boys?"

U.S. REFUSES RUSS PROTEST ON "STRAFING"

Moscow, Oct. 10 (AP) — Russia charged today that two American fighter planes strafed and damaged a Soviet airfield near the key Siberian seaport of Vladivostok last Sunday.

(In Tokyo, an official U. S. Air Force spokesman said he is "unable to comment at this time" on the Russian assertion.)

A Russian protest note was proffered to U. S. Minister-Counselor Walworth Barbour last night by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. The note placed the incident 62 miles north of the Soviet-Korean border.

It demanded "strict punishment" for the "responsible personnel" and American assurances against such incidents in the future.

No Casualties Claimed

The note said two F-80 shooting star jets machinegunned an airfield in the Sukhaya Rechka area at 4:17 p.m. (local time) Sunday. Sukhaya Rechka is across Novik Bay from Vladivostok and about 18 miles southwest of that important Siberian rail and shipping terminus.

"As a result of the firing, damage was inflicted on airframe equipment," the note declared. It made no mention of casualties.

Barbour declined to accept the note on the grounds the protest was a matter for the United Nations to handle.

Gromyko disagreed, arguing that since the note dealt with the firing by American planes on a Soviet installation, it was the sole concern of the two governments involved.

The note subsequently was sent by the Russians to the U. S. embassy. U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk, who had been in bed with a cold, went there early this morning to inform the State department of the Soviet communication.

It was published in Moscow papers without editorial comment.

"In connection with these provocative actions of the American Air Force, expressed in a gross violation of the U. S. S. R. State frontier, x x x and in firing on a Soviet air-drome, the Soviet government launches a resolute protest with the government of the United States," the note said.

Same Pattern Before

In refusing to accept the note, Barbour took the same stand as was taken by the United States last September, when Russia protested the downing of a Soviet plane by American aircraft off Korea.

That note was never accepted by the United States, and Russia submitted it to the United Nations for consideration only, not for action. It has remained shelved so far.

Korea has a long common frontier with Manchuria, China, but borders on the Soviet union for only about 20 miles along the extreme north-eastern tip of Northern Korea.

Harrisburg, Oct. 10 (P)—The expense accounts of an agent for the commonwealth of Pennsylvania during the Revolutionary War turned up here today.

The papers are part of a surprise package of early Pennsylvania history currently being uncovered in the restoration of old records in the auditor general's department.

The expense accounts showed some of the conditions encountered in the commonwealth following the betrayal of the patriots' cause by Benedict Arnold during the Revolution.

Wilson College To Honor Three Women

Chambersburg, Pa., Oct. 10 — Wilson college will confer honorary degrees on three women, leaders in education, civic affairs and the church, at its 80th anniversary convocation next Saturday, October 14.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Oyster Bay, N. Y., will receive the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters in recognition of her leadership in civic activities in this country. Puerto Rico and the Philippines and in both World Wars. She is the mother of Theodore Roosevelt, III, Pennsylvania's secretary of commerce.

To Mrs. Margaret C. Sweet, dean of alumnae of Wilson, will go the Doctor of Laws degree for peace-time service as a college administrator and wartime service as a top-ranking WAVES officer.

Mrs. Paul Moser of New York city, leader in the Presbyterian church, USA, and the Federal Council of Churches, will also be honored. The Doctor of Humane Letters degree will be awarded to her.

Says Administration Squandered Wealth

Du Bois, Pa., Oct. 10 (P) — The "sewer of Socialistic experiment" has swallowed up billions of dollars during President Truman's administration, the State Secretary of Internal Affairs declared last night.

William S. Livengood, Jr., who is campaigning for re-election, told an audience here: "If Mr. Truman had not squandered billions on Socialistic experiments, there would be plenty of money for national defense without any increase in taxes."

He added: "Worse still, the President threatens another increase if Democrats are elected to the Senate and House."

"Old Ironsides" was launched in 1797.

Emmitsburg LIONS CLUB TO SPONSOR XMAS PARTY DEC. 23

The Emmitsburg Lions club held its regular bi-monthly meeting Monday at 8:15 p.m. at the Cooper House, which was recently opened on the Gettysburg road near Emmitsburg. Lion President B. J. Eckmude presided at the meeting, which was attended by 21 members and six visitors from the Taneytown Lions club. Following a discussion, the club voted unanimously to sponsor the annual Christmas community celebration again this year. The celebration will be held on Saturday, December 23. It was also decided to invite the other service and civic organizations of the town to join in sponsoring the celebration.

The coming annual charter night was discussed and arrangements were placed in the hands of the program committee. Invitations were read by the secretary from the Taneytown Lions club to attend a turkey dinner to be held in the Taneytown fire hall, and from the Union Bridge club to attend their annual charter and ladies' night banquet and dance at the Peter-Pan inn at Urbana, Md.

Directors' Meet

A directors' meeting was held after the club meeting. There it was decided that the club make the necessary changes in the opening ceremony to conform with the directions of Lions International. The directors ordered the election of an assistant secretary-treasurer at the next regular club meeting. An application for aid in securing eye glasses for a local girl was presented and the directors passed it to the sight conservation committee with favorable recommendations. The next meeting of the club will be held Monday, October 24, at the Lutheran parish house and will feature a United Nations program.

A speech clinic will open at the Elm street school in Frederick, on October 17 and will be held regularly two days each week, under the guidance of Dr. Ansberry of the University of Maryland. Children are to be selected by school supervisors and principals. The clinic will need about $1,000 to carry on this work for a year. Contributions are solicited from all organizations and individuals.

The Hays Gas Service, Emmitsburg, has announced the recent completion of a modern gas bottling plant with showroom and offices at Taneytown. After October 10 the headquarters will be at the new location in Taneytown under the name of Town and Country Gas Service, Inc. This transfer will not change or affect the present business, which has been operating under the trade name of J. T. Hays and Son (Hays Gas Service) since 1936.

Pallbearers for Richard M. Zacharias, who died at his home in Emmitsburg Saturday, were Aaron Adams, John Humerick, Charles A. Harter, Roy Maxwell and Roy Eyer. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

The children's choir of Elias Lutheran church met Monday at 4 p.m. for a short business meeting and 45 minute rehearsal under the direction of Keith Janick. George Eyster conducted the business meeting with Sue Eyster as secretary. The Halloween party committee reported that the party will be held one to dress in costume. Decoration, Saturday, October 23, from 6 to 8, refreshment and serving committees P.M. in the parish house, with every- were appointed.

FRANCE READIES ARMS AID PLAN

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—The French government has begun to lay the groundwork for a detailed request for American funds to help finance the first year of France's stepped-up rearmament program.

French financial experts have started presenting initial figures to the State department in preparation for the arrival Thursday of French Finance Minister Maurice Pétache.

Pétache will sum up France's case during a round of conferences with American officials including Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and Secretary of State Acheson.

The French request is reported to cover the amount of money France believes she will need during the 1951 fiscal year to start her on the self-imposed task of creating, equipping and maintaining 15 new army divisions.

The French government, responding to an American plea for bigger defense spending, has announced its readiness to undertake a $570,000,000 rearmament program to strengthen Western Europe. The French plan would add some 250,000 men to the 650,000 now in the French armed forces. A good part of this present army is tied up in Indo-China fighting the Communists. What the United States is expected to contribute to make this expanded rearmament program possible has not yet been spelled out.

By comparison, Britain has called on the United States to pay half of the cost of the extra $3,000,000,000 it plans to spend for defense during the same period.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10 (AP)—Building inspectors are now under investigation in a new phase of a special grand jury probe of alleged corruption at City Hall. Five witnesses were called before the jurors in opening the new inquiry yesterday.

Perrin C. Hamilton, assistant state deputy attorney general, told the jury he had "documented evidence which indicates that certain employees in the building inspection office have forced contractors to pay fairly large sums of money before giving them approval of their work."

UN IN CRUCIAL DEBATE OVER PEACE PATTERN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

This is a crucial moment in the life of the United Nations—one that can make it or render it impotent in the matter of maintaining peace.

That is the significance of the United States proposals now before the General Assembly Political Committee. This program is designed to give the assembly emergency powers to combat aggression.

Specifically it provides, among other things, the creation of standing U.N. military forces. These would enable the peace organization to apply sanctions to aggression and back them up.

In short, the U.N. is discussing whether it shall face up to the obligations for which it was created or adopt the role of an international debating society—noisy but ineffective.

Success "Accidental"

But, someone demands, hasn't the U.N. just applied sanctions effectively in the case of Korea? Yes, and John Foster Dulles, Republican advisor to Secretary of State Acheson, called attention to this in presenting the American program before the political committee.

Dulles declared that the U.N. collective action in the Korean crisis was the pattern for action by the peace organization in the future. However, he said that only a series of accidents made success possible.

These accidents included Russia's boycott of the security council in June and her consequent inability to veto the Korean project, the presence of American troops on armistice duty in Japan, and reports from the U.N. commission on Korea.

So the American program is devised to make sure that in future the U.N. won't be dependent on a series of accidents to halt aggression.

League Lacked Power

As pointed out in previous columns, it was precisely on this point of inability to take sanctions that the late and unlamented league of nations floundered. It lacked the courage to back up its decisions by peace, a notable example being the manner in which Japan was allowed to get away with her aggression against Chinese Manchuria in 1931.

Yesterday's session produced a surprising and highly interesting development. Dulles left the door open for support of the plan by Russia, which previously had been antagonistic. The American representative made the telling argument that if the Soviet representatives believe, as they profess, that America has aggressive intentions, "then they will want the protection that these proposals will afford."

After Dulles finished his presentation Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky told the committee that Russia favors some points in the American program.

the Christmas decorations and lighting this year. "I think this is a very fine thing for this new club to do," he said.

The director voted to continue the broadcasting of special Christmas music through a record player and loud speaker this year, and also to provide a Santa Claus and gifts for children.

A letter was read from R. P. Funkhouser, chairman of the finance committee of the Adams County Pennsylvania Week committee, requesting a contribution from the Chamber of Commerce. The directors voted to pay up to $35 on the cost of banners and posters to be distributed to merchants for Pennsylvania Week, October 15-21.

Dislike "Speed Trap" Sign

The directors condemned the placing of a "speed trap" sign on West Middle street near the top of the West Confederate avenue hill. No one present was able to tell who authorized the erection of the sign. Mr. Bulleit, who is borough solicitor, said it had not been authorized by the borough council, and to the best of his knowledge had never been discussed at a council meeting.

Mr. Bulleit said it might have been authorized by the safety committee but he had no knowledge of it. He said in his opinion it should have come before borough council "as a matter of policy." Directors said "the only ones who will pay any attention to it are the tourists, and they will think it is a heck of a town to invite tourists here and then put up such a sign."

Other directors said that the sign was of no value unless the speed laws were strictly enforced.

Mrs. Snyder reported writing the U. S. Chamber of Commerce as directed at the last meeting relative to obtaining transcripts for use on radio programs over WGET and said she was informed that the of-cial in charge was on vacation. A later attempt will be made to obtain Chamber of Commerce broad-

The secretary reported answering 135 inquiries during the past month relative to hotel and tourist home accommodations, real estate and battlefield information. She said 3,000 Gettysburg folders were sent out during the month.

How Lincoln Square Became The Birthplace Of A Dream

John's dream always pictured him as some day the owner of the business in which he was a clerk.

He knew that to realize his ambitions, he would need money. Not a great sum beyond his reach within a few years. The business was not a large one. But John wanted it for his own.

He opened a savings account at the First National Bank of Gettysburg. Time and patience and regularity was his recipe. It was seven years before the opportunity came. But when it did John was ready.

We have seen this sort of thing happen over and over again in our 93 years on Lincoln Square. It could happen to you.

Chapter 14

The death of the veterinary, with its attendant complications had had a sobering effect on Jess Plum. Having passed his word to Dr. Logan concerning the dissolution of the cattle-rustling partnership, Plum cast about for a profitable and more honest livelihood. He became a moonshiner.

And then one Sunday night, Gabe Duncan returned. Rather, it was between one and two o'clock Monday morning when the ersatz cattle rustler rode into the clearing and loudly hailed the Plum cabin. Plum recognized the coarse voice in displeasure. Reluctantly he went, bareheaded and barefooted, out onto the porch.

Just beyond the steps sat a horseman. Behind him loomed two other riders as Plum held up his lantern. "Howdy, Plum," Duncan greeted in crude irony. "Thought yuh was dead. Yuh usta guard yore place better'n this."

"I'm out o' the cattle business, Gabe Duncan, and ye know it," Plum said. "I ain't got nary thing to guard. What brings ye back here?"

"Ye said ye was leavin' this country after 'Doc Bryant got touched off.' I did. Been up Colorado way, Jess. On the way now to ole Mexico to line up with the rurales. We drifted by here, knowin' yuh'd put us up for the night."

"I guess so," Plum conceded slowly. "Light down and dump yer saddles on the porch."

"That sounds more like it," Duncan grunted, dismounting. "Climb down, boys, and meet Jess Plum. These fellers is Gabe Knowles and Zeke Lemley. Jess, I've told 'em about yuh."

Plum swung his lantern higher to reveal a pair of heavy countenances, if anything less prepossessing than Duncan's ugly features. "Ye can have this lantern, Gabe. And take the last cabin."

"So, yuh're makin' moonshine? How about a gallon? I'd shore hit the spot, hey, fellers?"

There was vociferous approval on the part of Knowles and Lemley. Plum looked perturbed, but he raised no objection.

"Slim'll get it fer ye," he said in a troubled voice, and went back to bed. He was more silent than usual at the breakfast table, and the two women forbore to question him. He brooded the rest of the morning as he idled his time away. A feeling that something was off-color, that all was not right, possessed him and gradually communicated itself to others.

It was noon before there was any sign from the last cabin. Then Duncan came out and went to the wall for water.

"Hey, Jess," he yelled. "Reckon we kinda slept late. How 'bout a little grub? We're traveling sorta light."

"The women's fixin' dinner," Plum answered heavily. "I figured ye'd eat afore ye left. I'll call ye."

At the dinner table as the five men were silently served by Ivy and Maw Plum he said:

"Ye fellers air gettin' a late start. How far ya figgerin' on makin' it afore night?"

The three glanced at each other. Duncan grinned lazily.

"Don't reckon we'll pull out today at all, Jess," he drawled. "We'll visit with yuh a spell—even if yuh ain't actin' real hospital."

"I thought you said Plum was a friend of yours."

"See how yuh got the boys athinkin'?" Duncan complained. "We ain't goin' to trouble yuh none. All we ast the wimmenfolks is to cook some extra vittles. We got the money to pay fer boardin' us and our broncs fer a few days. Ain't we, boys?"

"Plenty," Lemley and Knowles growled in unison, grinning wolfishly.

"Since that's settled," Duncan went on, spread a slab of corn dodger with his fork. "That's purty good likker yuh're makin', Jess. What'll yuh charge us fer another gallon of it?"

Plum considered several things as he scratched and combed at his beard. Then, resigning himself to a situation he could not seem to help at the moment, "I been gettin' two dollars."

"We'll take it," Duncan agreed promptly. "Trot out a jug right after dinner, and keep tab on what we owe yuh. Got a deck of cards?"

Plum spent the afternoon on his porch smoking pipeful after pipeful of home-made twist, wrestling with his problem while the sounds of revelry at the far cabin grew louder under the loosening magic of liquor.

By suppertime, as his three unwelcome guests fairly reeled to his cabin, Plum had reached no definite conclusion.

"What's yore son?" Lemley demanded.

"Slim'll be home soon," Plum said tersely, "but he ain't goin' to play cards with ye."

"How 'bout actin' sociable?" inquired Knowles. "I don't like sulky folks myself."

"Gip's right, Jess," Duncan said. "And the jug's dry. Bring over another gallon after supper and thaw out. The boys want to get acquainted with yuh."

"That's the ticket," endorsed Lemley, smiling sourly. "If yuh don't come—we'll come to yore cabin."

Under this compulsion Plum went reluctantly down to their cabin.

Plum's gaze rested on the table. There were stacks of greenbacks in front of each of the trio. Despite their earlier talk, this was the first indication of money Plum had seen.

—and this was too much money.

Duncan looked up at Plum, and his voice and gaze were at variance with his drunken appearance.

"Slim back yet, Jess?" he asked casually.

"Not yet. Ye ought to remember how he does when he goes over to Buckner's to court Lizzie."

"I do. I jest wanna be shore yuh didn't send him some-eres else."

"I know what ye mean," Plum said shortly, his suspicions now crystallized into certainty. "Ye lied to me, Gabe Duncan. Ye three buzzards held up a stagecoach or robbed a bank, and ye're usin' my place fer a hide out."

Lemley uttered an angry exclamation and struggled to his feet, reaching for his hip. But Duncan was quicker. He sprang erect and thrust the surly Lemley back into his chair.

"Cut that out, Zeke," he ordered. "Yuh got us all wrong, Jess, and yuh can see the boys don't cotton to such ugly talk. I reckon it's my turn to come up in the collar. I been believin' you and trustin' you and defendin' you all this time to Zeke and Gip. Shore I remember Slim's habits. But listen to this: If Slim Tackett ain't back here by midnight I'll know what yuh've done. Yuh won't doublecross nobody else, that's all. Now uncork yore fresh jug and let's drink and play cards sociable-like the way ole friends ought to. Set down, Jess."

U.S. REFUSES RUSS PROTEST ON "STRAFING"

Moscow, Oct. 10 (AP) — Russia charged today that two American fighter planes strafed and damaged a Soviet airfield near the Korean seaport of Vladivostok last Sunday.

(In Tokyo, an official U. S. Air Force spokesman said he is "unable to comment at this time" on the Russian assertion.)

A Russian protest note was forwarded to U. S. Minister-Counselor Walworth Barbour last night by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. The note placed the incident 62 miles north of the Soviet-Korean border.

It demanded "strict punishment" for the "responsible personnel" and American assurances against such incidents in the future.

No Casualties Claimed

The note said two F-80 shooting star jets machinegunned an airfield in the Sukhaya Rechka area at 4:17 p.m. (local time) Sunday.

Sukhaya Rechka is across Novik Bay from Vladivostok and about 18 miles southwest of that important Siberian rail and shipping terminus.

"As a result of the firing, damage was inflicted on airfield equipment," the note declared. It made no mention of casualties.

Barbour declined to accept the note on the grounds the protest was a matter for the United Nations to handle.

Gromyko disagreed, arguing that since the note dealt with the firing by American planes on a Soviet installation, it was the sole concern of the two governments involved.

The note subsequently was sent by the Russians to the U. S. embassy. U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk, who had been in bed with a cold, went there early this morning to inform the State department of the Soviet communication.

It was published in Moscow papers without editorial comment.

"In connection with these provocative actions of the American Air Force, expressed in a gross violation of the U. S. S. R. State frontier, x x x and in firing on a Soviet airfield, the Soviet government launches a resolute protest with the government of the United States," the note said.

Same Pattern Before

In refusing to accept the note, Barbour took the same stand as was taken by the United States last September, when Russia protested the downing of a Soviet plane by American aircraft off Korea.

That note was never accepted by the United States, and Russia submitted it to the United Nations for consideration only, not for action. It has remained shelved so far.

Korea has a long common frontier with Manchuria, China, but borders on the Soviet union for only about 20 miles along the extreme northeastern tip of Northern Korea.

Harrisburg, Oct. 10 (AP) — The expense accounts of an agent for the commonwealth of Pennsylvania during the Revolutionary War turned up here today.

The papers are part of a surprise package of early Pennsylvania history currently being uncovered in the restoration of old records in the auditor general's department.

The expense accounts showed some of the conditions encountered in the commonwealth following the betrayal of the patriots' cause by Benedict Arnold during the Revolution.

Says Administration Squandered Wealth

Du Bois, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP) — The "sewer of Socialistic experiment" has swallowed up billions of dollars during President Truman's administration, the State Secretary of Internal Affairs declared last night.

William S. Livingston, Jr., who is campaigning for re-election, told an audience here: "If Mr. Truman had not squandered billions on Socialistic experiments, there would be plenty of money for national defense without any increase in taxes."

He added: "Worse still, the President threatens another increase if Democrats are elected to the Senate and House."

"Old Ironsides" was launched in 1797.
